State Patrol Says Special Favors Granted 2 of 9 Allegations

In Licavoli Case Upheld by Probers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Lt. Thomas Crowe was fired as supervisor of the Hocking Honor Camp of Qhio Penitentiary today. The action came at the close of an investigation into alleged special privileges granted life - termes Thomas (Yonnie) Licavoli.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis and Maury Koblentz, head of the state division of corrections, had demanded Crowe's resignation. He complied at once. The weeks-long investigation of the alleged privileges to Licavoli, serving a life term for murder, stemmed originally from a story written by a Columbus reporter who had visited the Hocking Camp. Licavoli then was an inmate of the camp, but since has been re-turned to the penitentiary.

After the news story, Warden Alvis and Koblentz began an investigation and turned the matter over to the Ohio Highway Patrol for a complete report. That report was made today.

Warden Alvis said Crowe had admitted "laxity in supervision in acknowledging that Licavoli had been granted special privileges."

Nine allegations of special privileges had been investigated. Warden Alvis said only two of these were substantiated—that Licavoli had unauthorized visitors at the camp, and that he made unauthorized use of the telephone.

Charges which were not substan Licavoli had received and sent uncensored mail and packages, had a special table for guests, had access to a private room without supervision, unauthorized use of the prison station wagon, unauthorized use of civilian clothes, unauthorized possession of a pet (dog) and unauthorized use of special foods and refrigerator priv-

PARIS (AP) - An eight-hour Cabinet meeting in Premier De Gaulle's office broke up today with only a brief announcement that decisions had been taken on the 1959 budget and on economic and fiscal matters.

Frenchmen and foreign bankers thus were kept waiting amid wide speculation that the French franc might be cut in value and then replaced with a new franc.

President Rene Coty was scheduled to preside at another Cabinet meeting this afternoon to ratify the financial decisions. The word might be given out then or in a Sunday night radio and television address by De Gaulle.

Cuban Civilians Warned To Avoid Rebel Positions

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) - Civilians were warned today to keep clear of rebel positions as the government proclaimed an all-out drive to wipe out the insurgents.

Army planes are reported to already have bombed the outskirts of Placetas on the main highway east of Santa Clara, where the rebels are tightening a ring around the capital of Las Villas Province.

The two-year rebellion faces its bloodiest turn as government forces struck at heavily populated con-centrated districts which until now have been kept out of the range of gunfire.

A shortage of weapons and ammunition was hampering the gov-ernment of President Fulgencio Batista in countering attacks by the rebel forces of Fidel Castro.

Year's Eve? Celebrating? Celebrating what? The death of the old year and the birth of the new?

Why? Didn't the year past measure up to your expectations? Are you glad to be rid of it? If so-what makes you think next year is going to be any better?

Only you can lay the foundation for a better future—with God's help! If you are to be a better person, if next year is to be a better year, you must include God in your planning.

Here is the opportunity of a New Year! Let us go to the House of the Lord! Let us give thanks to Him for what has been and ask His blessing upon what is to be.

What more perfect beginning could there be to any year?

What will you be doing when the clock strikes twelve on New Year's Eve? Celebrating? Celebrating what? The death of the old year and the birth of the new?

Why? Didn't the year past measure up to your expectations? Are you glad to be rid of it? If so-what makes you think next year is going to be any better?

Only you can lay the foundation for a better future—with God's help! If you are to be a better person, if next year is to be a better year, you must include God in your planning.

Here is the opportunity of a New Year! Let us go to the House of the Lord! Let us give thanks to Him for what has been and ask His blessing upon what is to be.

What more perfect beginning could there be to any year?

Quacks Making a Comeback

There is a return, says the United States Food and Drug Administration, of the old time medicine man and the federal bureau has found increasing evidence of quackery in his spiels. Government agents who have recorded the sales talks of door-todoor vitamin, mineral and other food supplement salesmen have found a remarkable likeness to the patent medicine hawkers of a century ago.

Fifty thousand salesmen now peddle medical wares to the households of the United States and a growing number are misrepresenting the powers of their goods. The American Medical Association has charged that self-styled "health and nutrition experts" are operating "the largest and most lucrative confidence game in history." The trade group of the nation's doctors estimates that 10 million Americans are paying $500 million annually for pure quackery.

Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Fleming agrees. "Unscrupulous operations in this field have become the most widespread and expensive form of medical quackery in the country today," he said.

Basing his sales pitch on the fear of human illness, the modern medicine man has adopted the same technique which created quick profits for his equally unscrupulous predecessors. People with real or imaginec ills it seems are easily sold on a "cure-all" remedy.

"Mine is an amazing case," droned one of these quacks in a recent sales pitch to a housewife. "I had an ulcerated stomach, arthritis, neuritis, pyorrhea. I wore glasses. I had a 44-inch waistline and high blood pressure. Well, I was finished." With this, he promptly produced a food supplement which he said would cure all this, and then some. This salesman had inadvertently chosen a FDA inspector posing as a housewife who recorded his claims on a hidden microphone. The salesman and his wife were subsequently fined $500 each in one of a growing number of prosecutions by the agency.

In spite of an increasing number of court-upheld convictions, the number of unscrupulous claims seems to be growing. "It's like trying to plug a breaking dam with your finger," was the exasperated comment of one investigator.

No doubt the current dietary fad is responsible at least in part for the return of the medicine man. The old time purchasers of patent medicines used to get more for their money. The quacks of yesterday provided entertainment with their pitches.

Red Rumors Hold Hope

Two international rumors, partly substantiated, express the hope of the free world for an easing of tensions if they are true. Red China's leadership is being shaken up, with Mao stepping down as head of the government, in response to growing unrest among the Chinese people.

The unsubstantiated rumor assumes that Premier Khrushchev of the Soviet Union is in the same situation.

It has been the contention of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for several years that communism in China would crumble from within. In his recent book he said that the uprising of the Chinese people against their communist despots was as sure as the sunrise.

London reports have the Russian people organizing into anti-government demonstrations, flaunting bitter slogans, despite the fearsome police and military power of the government. They are unconfirmed.

The red governments have handled such matters before, either bloodily or in a less violent manner. It is difficult to see how either communist regime could be upset without civil war unless both red armies are infected by popular protest.

The hopeful phase is that domestic conditions may demand liberalized policies which would shift the accent from armaments to consumer needs. That would be the best thing that could happen for a world that is exceedingly weary of ideological pressures and war alarms.

at its weakest moment. Five years ago, France was a beaten nation - beaten not only by the external forces of war but by an inner fatigue so malignant as to be the despair of Europe's friends and the hope of Europe's enemies. Not only was a quarter of the nation presumed to be in the hands of the enemy but so powerful were Moscow's servants in Paris, Thorez, Duclos and their associates, that they dragged toward them all the opportunists who thrive on a nation's misfortunes, who devised a thousand little tricks to put themselves in power. So cheap had become the Premiership of France that it was a bargaincounter commodity.

But against all this sat and waited the personality of France, Charles de Gaulle. He did not seek power. He did not join in a single political compromise. He was a country gentleman, one who lived far from the centers of greatness. He knew what France needed; he also knew what France wanted and what was wanted was unworthy. Inflation, excessive leisure, irresponsibility, failure to produce, dependence upon America for subsidies, small things these Frenchmen wanted while Mother France lay sick, more soul sick than body

But de Gaulle waited. To speak too soon would be to inflame the opportunists; to appear too early would raise the cry of Napoleonism. Charles de Gaulle waited. Years and years, he waited not to rule France but to save France and to save Europe. In the circumstances that faced France, such a figure as Charles de Gaulle could only be called when he was desperately needed. The Algerian crisis brought such a day. For what Algeria came to mean was not the independence of a colony or the loss of a trade area. It came to mean the death of France.

Even the non-French of Algeria and Tunista had, over the years, absorbed so much of L'esprit de France that they became culturally a mixed people, partly whatever they were before and partly French. And what is so interesting about it is that those who regard themselves as of French origin on this south shore of the Mediterranean were anxious to remain French. They gave their lives in a long

But de Gaulle waited. To speak too soon would be to inflame the opportunists; to appear too early would raise the cry of Napoleonism. Charles de Gaulle waited. Years and years, he waited not to rule France but to save France and to save Europe

In the circumstances that faced France, such a figure as Charles de Gaulle could only be called when he was desperately needed. The Algerian crisis brought such a day. For what Algeria came to mean was not the independence of a colony or the loss of a trade area. It came to mean the death of France

Even the non-French of Algeria and Tunista had, over the years, absorbed so much of L'esprit de France that they became culturally a mixed people, partly whatever they were before and partly French. And what is so interesting about it is that those who regard themselves as of French origin on this south shore of the Mediterranean were anxious to remain French. They gave their lives in a long civil war for the preservation of France as Joan of Arc had given hers for the preservation of France. It is a strictly French concept. So in the end, they called upon de Gaulle and the vote was as close to unanimous as it is possible to get by any system of balloting. Charles de Gaulle is no Napoleon Bonaparte who seized power and held it by arms until he fell by arms; he is no Boulanger who emerges to take power and disappears; he is not even a Louis Philippe who bargains here and there to produce a kingdom. He submitted himself to the people's will and the people's choice. For before de Gaulle could serve France, the French people had to accept the consequences of troubled times. They had to discipline themselves. They had to cast aside the enchanting miseries of inflation, non-productivity, economic de-

The opening show was packed to its 800 capacity, another 1,200 people lined up on Sunset Boulevard, waiting for the second show.

As the show ended a parade of waiters and captains marched to the stage with huge floral bouquets for Miss Smith.

At the end of the parade came Moulin Rouge owner Frank Sennes with a box. Inside was a black mink wrap which Sennes said set him back $10,000.

"I never did this before," he told a reporter, "but then I never had an act that opened to 15,000 reservations before.'

He admitted an ulterior motive. "I want them to stay an extra week and I'll pay double the MOTHER, SON, DAUGHTER-IN-LAW DEATH TRIANGLE - Santa Barbara, Calif., authorities are deep in the bizarre investigation of the death of Mrs. Olga Duncan, 30, former Canadian nurse who was the wife of a prominent attorney, Frank Duncan. Augustine Baldonado, 25, led police to where body of the 7-months-pregnant woman was buried, and told them he and another man were hired by Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 54, Frank's mother, to kill her. Frank's mother already had attempted to have the marriage annulled by posing as her own daughter-in-law before a judge.

Holiday Carnivals, Doubleheaders Top Weekend Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football comes up with its first big post-season bowl program today, so college basketball answers with this salvo:

1. Six major holiday ments.

2. Such important doubleheaders as West Virginia vs. Northwestern and Seattle vs. Chicago Loyola at Chicago and Butler vs. Indiana and Notre Dame vs. Purdue at Indianapolis.

3. A bundle of major games, including matches for the team with the longest winning streak going, Auburn (against Florence of Alabama), unbeaten Bradley (against Gonzaga), and Georgia Tech-St. Louis, Virginia-Tennessee, .Tem-ple-Connecticut, Minnesota-Washington, Louisiana State-Florida State, Princeton-Ohio State, and Utah State-Idaho.

The tournament schedule, holding the key interest at the moment, reaches the semifinal stage tonight in the ECAC's Holiday Festival at New York, the All-College tourney at Oklahoma City and the Southwest Conference tourney at Houston.

The Big Eight Conference tour-nament at Kansas City has a second pair of first round games, and first round play begins in the Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y., and the Far West Classic at Corvallis, Ore.

Here are the pairings:

Holiday Festival (semifinals)-St. John's (NY) vs. Dayton, Utah vs. St. Joseph's (Pa.). (Cornell-Syracuse and Niagara-Holy Cross in afternoon consolation games). Finals Monday night.

All-College (semifinals)-Bowling Green vs. Duquesne, Xavier of Ohio vs. Oklahoma City, Wichita-Tulsa and Oregon-San Franciseo in afternoon consolation games. Finals Monday night.

Southwest (semifinals) - Texas A&M vs. Rice, SMU vs. TCU (Baylor-Arkansas, and Texas-Texas Tech in afternoon consoldations). Finals Monday night.

Big Eight (first round continued) - Kansas vs. Colorado, Nebraska vs. Oklahoma State. Winners advance with Kansas State finals. Finals Tuesday night.

Queen City (first round)—Brig-ham Young vs. Dartmouth, Seton Hall vs. Canisius. Finals Monday

Far West Classic (first round)-

Finals show up tonight in the Evansville Invitational, with Tennessee Tech playing host Evans-ville for the title. Tech nipped St. Mary's (Calif.) 67-65 Friday night Walnut's one or a three-two situ- team, besides Darby and Scioto, and Evansville walloped Washing-ton of St. Louis, 84-53.

All four fevorites won in day-night doubleheaders in the Holi-day Festival at Madison Square Garden Friday. Dayton, showing it the favored team, bounced back that was down "pat", committing from a nine-point halftime deficit only 11 fouls throughout the game. to down Niagara 84-79 as Bobby Walnut was called on 14 personals. Tech was a 12-point favorite. In other games, TCU beat Baylor 62-55, Rice whipped Texas 62-43 and SMU Pickerington's outstanding pivot man, Ison, was held to 9 points by the defense of Barr.

Walnut's record now reads 2-5.

Control of bankboards was taken by Pickerington's Ison, though he edged Arkansas 65-64.

Form also followed in the Big Bight's opening doubleheader as Kansas State, with Bob Boozer and Wally Franks combining for 45 points, beat Missouri 69-66 and Oklahoma stopped Iowa State, place position.

Notre Dame and Purdue actually are playing for the "champion-ship" of the Hooster Classic in the doubleheader also involving Butler and Indiana at Indianapolis. The pairings for both days were set, however, and it doesn't rank as an official tournament. Notre Dame rode Tom Hawkins 31 points to a 73-67 victory over Indiana Friday night and Purdue, winning its sixth straight, dropped Butler 78-65.

Holiday Carnivals, Doubleheaders Top Weekend Schedule

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football comes up with its first big post-season bowl program today, so college basketball answers with this salvo:

1. Six major holiday tourna-

2. Such important doubleheaders as West Virginia vs. North-western and Seattle vs. Chicago Loyola at Chicago and Butler vs. Indiana and Notre Dame vs. Purdue at Indianapolis.

3. A bundle of major games, including matches for the team with the longest winning streak going, Auburn (against Florence of Alabama), unbeaten Bradley (against Gonzaga), and Georgia Tech-St. Louis, Virginia-Tennessee, Temple-Connecticut, Minnesota-Washington, Louisiana State-Florida State, Princeton-Ohio State, and Utah State-Idaho.

The tournament schedule, holding the key interest at the moment, reaches the semifinal stage tonight in the ECAC's Holiday Festival at New York, the All-College tourney at Oklahoma City and the Southwest Conference tourney at Houston.

The Big Eight Conference tournament at Kansas City has a second pair of first round games, and first round play begins in the Queen City at Buffalo, N.Y., and the Far West Classic at Corvallis. Ore.

Here are the pairings:

vs. St. Joseph's (Pa.). (Cornell-Syracuse and Niagara-Holy Cross in afternoon consolation games). Finals Monday night. All-College (semifinals)-Bowling Green vs. Duquesne, Xavier of Ohio vs. Oklahoma City, Wichita-Tulsa and Oregon-San Franciseo in afternoon consolation games. Finals Monday night.

Notre Dame and Purdue actually are playing for the "championship" of the Hoosier Classic in the doubleheader also involving Butler and Indiana at Indianapolis. The pairings for both days were set, however, and it doesn't rank as an official tournament. Notre Dame rode Tom Hawkins' 31 points to a 73-67 victory over Indiana Friday night and Purdue, winning its sixth straight, dropped Butler 78-65.

We were happy to be greeted by Santa Claus as we entered our lunch room, recently. He gave us a box of animal crackers. We enjoyed our Christmas tree and gift exchange very much. We are going to enjoy our vacation.

We are sorry to have Dianna Johnson leave our group. Dianna is moving to Bremen. We will miss you Dianna.

Third and Fourth Grades We had 100 per cent attendance. Guess everyone knew Santa Claus would be here.

Many of our Christmas tree and room decorations were made in the room and we thought they were very nice.

WE HAD our party after recess and we had our gift exchange at the same time. Seventh Grade
